

Terms and Application Form of the CEP SUM Dataset

INTRODUCTION

CEP SUM is a Chinese E-commerce Product summarization dataset that contains approximately 1.4 million product-summary pairs in three product categories, including Home Appliances, Clothing, and Cases & Bags. The dataset is collected from JD.com, a large-scale e-commerce platform in China. The product descriptions and the product summaries in the dataset are currently displayed online, and thus, we must ensure that the dataset is used only for research purposes. Sorry for the inconvenience and we appreciate that you could strictly observe all the terms hereof.

Terms

The copyright of this dataset belongs to JD.com. The dataset is ONLY used for research purposes. Commercial purposes are strictly prohibited. Display, reproduction, transmission, distribution or publication of this dataset are prohibited. An individual with access is not allowed to share the dataset with other persons or institutions. The access is to be terminated when the applicant is no longer at the current institution. Violations of the above terms will result in legal liability. If you are interested in our dataset, please fill out the application form below and send it to lihaoran24@jd.com. We will send the download link of the dataset to the applicant.

Application Form

I, _____ (name), working currently at _____ (affiliation)

acknowledge my understanding and accepting of the above terms.

Signature _____

Date _____

Title _____

Accepted by the organization:

Signature _____

Date _____

Name (please print) _____

Title _____

Institution _____

Please print, complete, and c.c. this form to your organization's contact person.

To maintain compliance with the terms and simplify the approval procedure, please send the application forms with your organization email. We would appreciate that you can provide proofs of your identity, such as your homepage, semantic scholar ID, lab website, etc.